LODO MONDADORI: NOTE FROM CIR'S LEGAL COUNSEL ON THE COURT OF CASSATION HEARING

Rome, June 27 2013 – CIR's defence counsel has given a positive opinion on the conclusions given today by the Prosecutor General of the Court of Cassation, which confirmed the legitimacy of the company's action and its right to compensation for the huge patrimonial and non-patrimonial damage suffered through the corruption of a judge by Fininvest in the Lodo Mondadori case. They await the decision of the Court with confidence, even on the marginal aspects for which the Prosecution recognized a flaw in the reasoning of the ruling contested, which is in the view of Cir's defence counsel non-existent. These marginal aspects do not, however, affect the substance of the decision of the Milan Court of Appeal.
